10.2 Screen Protection Blue Light

Article number: 4539516

A glass that protects your iPad as well as your health. Nowadays you use screens for hours, whether on a smartphone, monitor or notebook. Blue light appears almost everywhere, including in sunlight. Natural blue light activates many important functions of our body; it affects our rhythm, mood and performance. If the LED light is overused, it can lead to increased eye strain and long-term retinal damage. It can even result in physical or mental illnesses. For this reason, protect your iPad and yourself with our ARTICONA anti-blue light 10.2 protective glass
